

A note about our wine programme

Wine lists evolve over time to compliment a restaurant's style and tone, as well as the ever changing taste of the public at large.

Our list here in West Restaurant is designed to mirror the restaurant's dining menu - sophisticated yet accessible, as well as taking inspiration from around the world. As with our menu, we change our wine list monthly to reflect the season. Therefore, even our long-time friends may want to take a close look.

For any taste, meal or mood, an array of possibilities awaits. If you would like assistance with your selection or care to have a Fine Vintage Port or Wine decanted prior to your arrival, please speak to Fergal, Myself or any member of our knowledgeable team. Please use us to help you with a wine recommendation and introduce you to something new. Trust us and try a varietal you have not tasted before. The grape varietal is the DNA of the wine. This is where the fun begins with wine and it is where you will learn the most from your time with us.

As one of Ireland's first restaurants to begin using the Coravin wine preservation system, we are delighted to be able to offer you a glass of any of our premium wines. So you can now taste that bucket list!

I hope we have created a wine list that is both enlightening and entertaining. I wish you memorable tasting pleasures.

General Manager / Sommelier

A few words about Coravin

It has been now more than 8 years since West became one of the first restaurants in Ireland to use Coravin. This, to say the least, has revolutionised the way we serve wine in West and it has become a permanent fixture in the restaurant. Coravin has not only allowed us to enjoy a wine that may have previously been gathering dust in the wine cellar, it has also lent to our education within the wine industry, allowing us to compare vintages of a certain wine or to ascertain if a wine is ageing well. We have over 400 labels in our cellar and only a very select few are exempt from Coravin. This means that the range of different wines poured by the glass within our restaurant has increased dramatically. Of course food is the key to celebration in West; the finest local produce masterfully crafted into modern Irish dishes. But it is our priority to allow You, our guest, to be afforded the greatest selection and indeed the most appropriate wine match to enjoy with such splendid cuisine.

We offer three tiers of wine matching options with our tasting menu. Thanks to Coravin this includes a premium wine match and even a match from our cellar selection. And hey! We not only love to serve wine we love to talk about it too. This allows us to engage even more with you as a result.

So, we look forward to serving you that perfect bucket list glass of wine that gives you the most pleasure with our food in West.

Fergal and Team.

Champagne and Sparkling

What is it about Champagne?

Clearly not just the physical effect of the alcohol lurking behind the bubbles. In most circumstances even the sound of a cork popping lightens the mood and provokes an immediate sense of expectation. With a flute of Champagne in hand, the young feel wisely witty, the old feel young and everything is better looking.

Verdejo

With the help of French oenologist Émile Peynaud In 1980, white wines from the Rueda region of Spain were recognized by a Denominación de Origen (DO). The Verdejo grapes are generally harvested at night. This means that the grapes enter the cellar at the lower night-time temperature of 10–15 °C instead of the daytime temperature, which can be as high as 28–30 °C in September. Lower temperatures mean less oxidation and hence Verdejo wines are aromatic, often soft, and full-bodied.

Grillo

Grillo is a Sicilian white grape variety most famous for its role in the island's fortified Marsala wines. It is still widely planted on Sicily despite Marsala's fall from fashion, and is now used most commonly in a variety of still white wines, both varietal and blended. Grillo, when vinified to a high standard, makes a fresh, light white wine with nutty, fruit-driven flavors that include lemon and apple.

Colombard

548 Les Hauts Marin, Cote de Gascogne, France 2015 29.00

Falangina

549 Falangina, Campagna, Italy 2020 30.00

One of Italy's oldest grape varieties cultivated since Roman times. Its slightly sweet and fruit flavours make it an ideal pairing with fish or as an aperitif. A gem to be discovered

Petite Arvine

Petite Arvine has a reputation as a high-class grape varietal, and is seen as the best white wine grape of the Valais region of Switzerland. Its wines are rich in extract and are found as dry, medium-dry and sweet wines. This textured wine contains a generous amount of extract from its thick-skinned berries.

552 Grande Anne, Domaine René Favre, Switzerland 2020 85.00

Has been barrel fermented and aged, Complex and well structured. This is rare and as good if not better than most Burgundy grand cru.

Chardonnay

The most popular white grape in the world, made famous by Burgundy's reputation. Ripe melon, butter, toast, honey and walnuts. Medium to full bodied wines with well balanced acidity. Chardonnay grapes create some of the finest, most complex dry white wines in existence. It is a beautiful accompaniment to a variety of cuisine. It is well suited to chicken and fish, as it is to beef and veal. The following are great examples from all over.

595 Branco Especial, Quinta Dos Carvalhais NV 120.00
Made with Encruzado, Semillon, Verdelho and other Native Grapes. This wine was made using the region's traditional wine making techniques, including the maturation of white wines for long periods of time in large, old oak casks. This is a blend of grapes from 2004, 2005 and 2006, with an average of eight years ageing in oak.

Gamay

A light wine with a great deal of fruit. Expect strawberries, black pepper, and cherries, boiled sweets.

The perfect choice for those who prefer a light red wine with their meal.

608 Lucien Lardy Beaujolais - Village 2020 33.00

Very pretty floral highlights. The fruit is ripe and powerful and smacks of blueberries. Sweet and persistent aftertaste.

No, Beaujolais isn't only Beaujolais Nouveau. And, even if this is the most famous ambassador of the Pays Beaujolais, there is no reason to forget the other appellations. The Beaujolais Crus, Brouilly, Chénas, Chiroubles, Côte-de-Brouilly, Fleurie, Juliénas, Morgon, Moulin à Vent, Régnié, and Saint Amour and the 10 Beaujolais Crus that are the jewels in Beaujolais' crown. It's well worth the wait if you leave them in the bottle for a few years. Connoisseurs wait for the spring following the harvest before tasting them. They wait for the Beaujolais Crus to have "done their Easter duty" (fait leurs Pâques) as the winemakers say. This means that the Crus have reached maturity and can be appreciated at their full value.

Pinot Noir

Pinot Noir, 'the hearth break grape', is a wine of depth and quality. Captured within the brilliant ruby color are flavors and aromas of ripe fruit, dark chocolate farmyards and delicate spice. When well made, it produces wines which are ethereal to taste. These tastes and aromas unite in complexity to stimulate the mind and senses. Pinot Noir is wonderful with the Irish Salmon or Connemara Lamb

Pinot Noir - from Burgundy

Burgundy is in some ways the most terroir-oriented region in France; immense attention is paid to the area of origin, and in which of the region's 400 types of soil a wine's grapes are grown. As opposed to Bordeaux, where classifications are producer-driven and awarded to individual chateaux, Burgundy classifications are geographically-focused. A specific vineyard or region will bear a given classification, regardless of the wine's producer. This focus is reflected on the wine's labels where appellations are most prominent and producer's names often appear at the bottom in much smaller text.

The main levels in the Burgundy classifications, in descending order of quality, are: Grand crus, Premier crus, Village appellations, and finally regional appellations

Corvina, Molinara, Rondinella Blend

There are very few wines that evoke as many emotional reactions as the Italian Amarone. What makes Amarone unusual is that after the harvest the grapes are placed on mats and set in warm rooms to dry for five or six months until they are converted to ultra sweet raisins. Sometimes the grapes are even attacked by botrytis, the noble mold from which the world's great sweet wines are made. Despite that, once made into wine those hyper-sweet grapes yield a wine as high in alcohol as 17% that by its very character has a distinctly bitter character, and bitterness is the most controversial of all the basic tastes, in some recalling the atavistic reaction of primitive man who associated that taste with poison, in others calling to mind the more unpleasant moments of childhood. To enjoy bitterness, a developed taste indeed, one must overcome the basic pleasures granted by sweetness and Amarone, the very meaning of which in Italian is "the big bitter" is the wine to do this with.

Cabernet & Claret

A wine built to age needs tannin and acidity, and the fruit and extract to keep up with them. Cabernet has all of this in abundance. It produces dark, tannic wine with a strong initial acid attack followed by pure blackcurrant fruit. When aged in new oak it can be stunning.

Art is the blending of grapes in order to produce a wine greater than the sum of its parts. Some of the greatest wines in the world are examples of this art. Nowhere truer is this than in Bordeaux.

Here's hoping you enjoy and appreciate the following examples of some of the very best in the world.

740 Sassicaia, Marchese Incisa della Rocchetta, Bolgheri, Italy 2003 390.00

Marchese Mario Incisa della Rocchetta of the San Guido estate, was the pioneer who introduced non-native vines into the Italian wine scene. For more than twelve years following WW2 he experimented in creating Sassicaia, a unique Cabernet Sauvignon based Bordeaux-style wine. It wasn't however until 1968 that Sassicaia was first offered on the open market. The rest of course is history...

Sassicaia is the only wine produced at Tenuta San Guido. It's current blend is at least 85% Cabernet Sauvignon and up to 15% Cabernet Franc. About 15,000 cases of Sassicaia are produced annually from the low-yielding vines. The fermentation takes place in large stainless-steel vats. The wine is then Aged in French oak barrique, a third of which is new. This is the first and most loved 'Super Tuscan, wine and is fondly known as 'Sass' on the other side of the Atlantic.

742 L'Aventure Optimus, Paso Robles, California 2000 110.00
Massive berry and fruit flavours, spices. Long, delicious finish and world class

Cabernet, Merlot, Cabernet Franc Blends – From Napa

In the late 1960's, while attending the university of California at Davis, Christian Moueix fell in love with the Napa Valley and its wine. Son of Jean-Pierre Moueix, the famed wine merchant and producer from Libourne, France, Moueix returned home in 1970 to manage the family vineyards, including Chateaux Petrus, La Fleur Petrus, Trotanoy in Pommerehne and Magdelaine in Saint Emilion.

His love of Napa Valley lingered and, in 1981, he discovered the historic Napanook Vineyard, a 124 acre site west of Yountville that had been the source of the best valley wines of the 1940s and 1950s. In 1982, Moueix entered into a partnership to develop the vineyard and, in 1995, became its sole owner. He chose the name 'DOMINUS' or 'LORD OF THE ESTATE' in Latin to underscore his long standing commitment to stewardship of the land.

420	Chateau D'Yquem, 1er Cru Classe, Sauterne 2014	450.00

The most celebrated most expensive white wine in the world. Thomas Jefferson once ordered 250 bottles of the 1784 vintage for himself and additional bottles for George Washington. However, at that time the technique of allowing noble rot to infect grapes had not yet been discovered, so the wine Jefferson was drinking was a different sweet wine. After over two centuries of improving and refining the wine, I am sure Donal Trump would order the same quantity today if he were able to afford it! Remarkably, the size of Château d'Yquem was, however, the same size in 1788 as it is today.

The 1811 Château d'Yquem exhibited what wine experts like Robert Parker has described as exceptional longevity with Parker scoring the wine a perfect 100 points when tasted in 1996. In 2006 a 135-year "vertical" (containing every vintage from 1860 to 2003) was sold by The Antique Wine Company in London for $1.5 million, one of the highest prices ever paid for a single lot of wine. Also that year, Dior and Château d'Yquem teamed up together to create a unique skin care product made from the sap of the Yquem vines. (Our seaweed baths are just as good!!!)
